Special Issue on Visionary Ideas in Data Management
ACM SIGMOD Record

Guest Editor: Jun Yang
Editor-in-Chief: Yanlei Diao

This special issue of SIGMOD Record seeks papers describing visions of future systems, frameworks, algorithms, applications, and technology related to the management or use of data. The goal of this special issue is to promote the discussion and sharing of challenges and ideas that are not necessarily well-explored at the time of writing, but have potential for significantly expanding the possibilities and horizons of the field of databases and data management. The submissions will be evaluated on their originality, significance, potential impact, and interest to the community, with less emphasis on the current level of maturity, technical depth, and evaluation.

Important Dates

Submission deadline: March 15, 2015
Publication of the special issue: June 30, 2015
